Get your asset-based approaches into gear – they’re the future!
Clenton Farquharson MBE, Chair of TLAP Board & Consultant

Welcome
A shared Commitment and Call to Action

Engaging and empowering communities: Our shared commitment and call to action

Easy Read Executive Summary
Co-authored by all national health and care system leaders
“It’s not what’s wrong but what’s strong? “

Cormac Russell,
Managing Director, Nurture Development
“Community-centred approaches see people and communities as having strengths (assets) and skills, rather than deficits”
Good conversations in community-led support

https://www.youtube.com/embed/Unp4lJnw6SA?rel=0
“Trust, neighbourliness and civic engagement is the glue that holds individuals together as a community”

Principle from a shared commitment & call to action
“Shared decision making is central to co-production and enables people to organise and collaborate to identify their own needs & aspirations”

Principle from a shared commitment & call to action
BORED
LONELY
DOING NOTHING
UNHAPPY
KEEP CALM AND CONFERENCE ON
Dr Ossie Stuart, SCIE Trustee, academic & equality & diversity consultant

“Empowerment – shifting power and control from public services and professionals to the community”

Principle from shared commitment & call to action
An asset-based future for social care

- It is not business as usual
- Not a substitute for real support
- It must be a ‘real partnership’ with citizens
- About people, not ‘service users’
A professional challenge

- Ill prepared and trained workforce
- Risk averse management
- Lack of trust of people who use services and carers
- Safety first?
SCIE support with asset-based approaches

- Accredited training for staff in strengths-based approaches to assessment and care planning
- Asset mapping consultancy support
- Research and benchmarking of asset-based approaches against good practice
National Co-production week
2nd – 6th July 2018

- Organise events during the week
- Blog and tweet about co-production #coproweek
- Send us examples of good practice
- Make a co-production commitment

http://www.scie.org.uk/co-production/
Question time

“What are you already doing to create asset-based approaches?”
More questions

What do you think asset-based approaches in your locality could look like?
What is the first thing you would do to create an asset-based area?
How would local organisations and stakeholders encourage peer support?
How do we make every assessment a good conversation?
Support offers and resources – NDTi SCIE, Shared Lives Plus & TLAP

Get your asset-based approaches into gear – they’re the future

Resources to support councils with asset-based commissioning to develop strong and inclusive communities.

Resources from the Think Local Act Personal partnership

- The Asset-Based Area
- Developing the Power of Strong and Inclusive Communities
- Engaging and Empowering Communities
- Six innovations in social care

Developing a Wellbeing and Strengths-based Approach to Social Work – Changing Culture

Resources from SCIE

- Asset-based places: A model for development
- Supporting co-production

Resources from NDTi

- The Building Community Capacity Practitioners Network
- The Community Led Support programme
- Roundtable on Effective Conversations and Care Act Assessments

For more resources from SCIE visit: www.scie.org.uk
For more resources from NDTi visit: www.ndti.org.uk

Webinar on Wellbeing Teams
www.thinklocalactpersonal.org.uk/latest/webinar-on-wellbeing/
Shared Lives Plus scheme
www.sharplivesplus.org.uk
Information hub for local authorities, NHS and supporting organisations
Co-production prize draw

Take part in our co-production prize draw!
Answer the following questions for a chance to win a co-production consultation or training session.

What are you already doing/would like to do to create asset-based opportunities for people in your area?

What would help you? i.e training, information, advice:

P.T.O.
Visit us at our stands

Stand E12

Stand E12

Stand E13

Stand D14