

LEEDS BECKETT UNIVERSITY SCHOOL OF HEALTH &
COMMUNITY STUDIES

A Glass Half Full: evidence for change

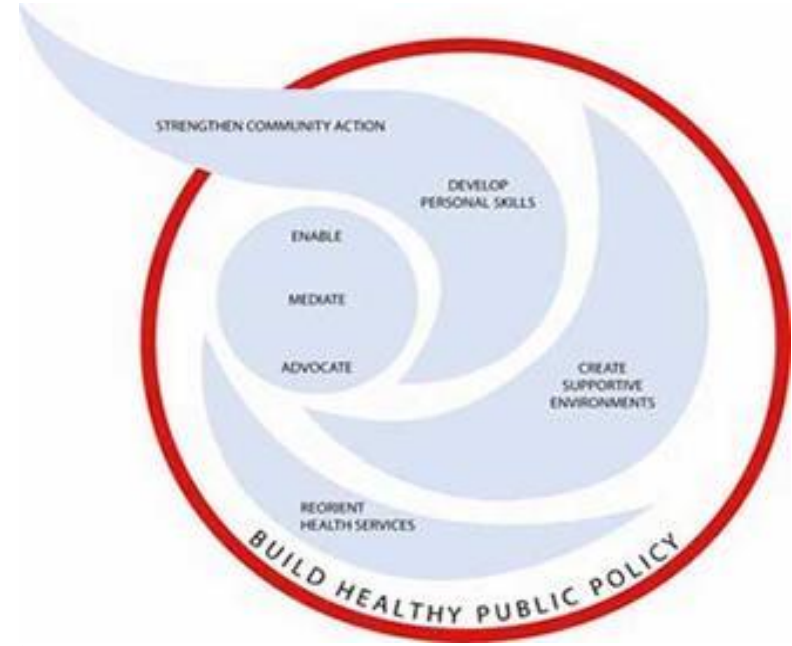

Jane South, Professor of Healthy Communities

j.south@leedsbeckett.ac.uk

j.south@leedsbeckett.ac.uk
Panel presentation: 'A glass half-full: using asset-based approaches to improve local health & wellbeing, 10 years on' Local Government Association webinar. 10th December 2020,

10 years on

- Stronger evidence base on community engagement and psychosocial determinants of health
- Family of community-centred approaches
- The significance of an asset orientation

The family of community-centred approaches

Asset mapping – an evaluation

“What I think it has been very good at doing is starting conversations and starting conversations between people. Now that’s a slightly different product than a nice neat audit and the pros and cons in both of that.” (S2)

South, J., Giuntoli, G., Kinsella, K. (2017) Getting past the dual logic: findings from a pilot asset mapping exercise in Sheffield, UK. Health and Social Care in the Community. 25(1):105-113.

MARCH Network

UK Research and Innovation

Transforming our understanding of how social, cultural & community assets can support mental health

www.MARCHNetwork.org

@NetworkMARCH