

ONE PUBLIC ESTATE

APRIL 2016

INVITATION TO APPLY

Cabinet Office

The One Public Estate programme received a double funding boost in 2015: £6 million from the Summer Budget, and a further £31 million from the Autumn Statement. This will enable us to extend the programme to more councils and continue to support current members.

This prospectus:

- invites areas not currently part of the programme to apply to join
- invites existing partnerships to apply for additional support and funding to expand their current programmes and deliver greater benefits
- provides an outline timetable for future application and funding rounds.

One Public Estate (OPE) is a pioneering initiative delivered in partnership by the Cabinet Office Government Property Unit (GPU) and the Local Government Association (LGA). It provides practical and technical support and funding to councils to deliver ambitious property-focused programmes in collaboration with central government and other public sector partners.

OPE partnerships across the country have shown the value of working together across the public sector and taking a strategic approach to asset management. At its heart, the programme is about getting more from our collective assets – whether that's catalysing major service transformation such as health and social care integration and benefits reform, unlocking land for new homes and commercial space, or creating new opportunities to save on running costs or generate income. This is encompassed in four core objectives:

1. creating economic growth (new homes and jobs)
2. more integrated, customer-focused services
3. generating capital receipts
4. reducing running costs.

Growing a national programme

OPE began as a pilot programme with 12 pilot areas in 2013. In 2014, a further 20 pilots were successful in joining the programme. Together, these 32 partnerships have shown that with the right expertise and support, a small investment can unlock significant benefits in service transformation, local growth and efficiency savings.

In December 2015, the Government announced a major expansion to the OPE programme. Backed by £6 million funding announced at the Summer Budget 2015, 107 local authorities working in 24 partnerships successfully joined the programme. These partnerships have developed a wide range of land and property-focused projects. Together they expect to deliver 16,500 new homes, 36,000 new jobs, raise £138 million in capital receipts and save £56 million in running costs over the next five years.

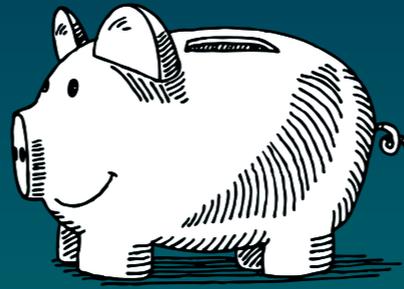

Learning together

Whilst growing the programme, we continue to reflect on new and recurring lessons. Here are the ones we have found most valuable:

- Early engagement on planned disposals is critical to securing the best future use of public sector assets. OPE property boards play a central role here.
- Seeing property as a strategic asset can reap significant rewards. It can be an effective catalyst or enabler for reforms such as health and social care integration, benefits reform and digitisation; and for local economic growth.
- Local priorities should be the driver with property the facilitator to achieving goals.
- Councils are at the heart of successful delivery – they have the democratic legitimacy, dedicated interest and breadth of responsibilities to lead local partnerships.
- It isn't easy work. Partnerships and property require strong leadership and investment of time, energy and patience as much as cash.
- The biggest wins can only be achieved by working on a larger scale. Consider where working across a wider area could unlock larger-scale benefits.
- All ambitious schemes come up against hurdles; at times only central government has the ability to overcome them.

£56 million

Reduction in running costs.

£138 million

Generated in capital receipts.

36,000

16,500

new homes.

Moving forward

We are looking to build a national programme on the successful foundations of earlier pilot phases. This means new partnerships will continue to record and map assets, establish property boards to bring together public sector partners, and agree and implement joint projects. We also retain the philosophy of cross-public sector working on land and property to unlock major service transformation and/or economic growth priorities locally.

We are inviting partnerships to apply, putting forward ambitious and credible work programmes to be delivered in collaboration with other public sector partners in the area. Applicants must clearly set out how they will deliver the core OPE objectives (see p2).

In particular, new applicants should also consider how the programme can support their wider service transformation and economic growth priorities, eg sub-regional level health and social care integration, unlocking major economic growth opportunities, etc. They should also set out how they see OPE and the property board aligning with wider activity such as devolution deals, including any Land Commission or joint assets board.

Operating in and shaping a new public land and property landscape

Over the past year government departments have announced major transformation programmes. Each of these will have an impact on public land and property both nationally and locally, and represents an opportunity for future collaboration. Existing and prospective partnerships should be aware of how these initiatives play out locally and consider how they might form part of their OPE work programme.

The offer

- For partnerships to deliver an ambitious and credible programme of work, we are offering funding of up to £500,000 per partnership to:
 - build effective partnerships and/or capacity in your area
 - fund project management expertise to drive and coordinate across your programme
 - support partners to unlock progress on more complex or ambitious projects
 - optimise outputs where, for example, a large central government site is released.
- Practical LGA and GPU support including barrier-busting and sharing good practice.
- Technical support from analysts and data experts, including on recording, mapping and benchmarking.
- Access to senior central and local government experts.
- Access to a Ministerial Star Chamber to help overcome barriers to delivery.
- Facilitated Opportunities Workshops to identify new projects to take forward.
- Continued development of government policy to assist local delivery.
- A pool of experts to provide additional support and capacity, for example on masterplanning, feasibility work, business case development, cost evaluation, etc.

In addition, we encourage those on the programme to get involved in helping shape some of the new tools announced in the Autumn Statement and being taken forward through the Housing and Planning Bill to ensure they are fit for purpose and support delivery of OPE projects on the ground. This will include contributing to the development of:

Housing and Planning Bill

- A duty to engage – this puts a legal duty on government departments to engage with the relevant local authority as they are developing proposals to dispose of land.
- Strengthening the Right to Contest – by allowing the Power to Direct Disposal of Land to be used in a wider range of circumstances.
- New reports on efficiency and sustainability of local government buildings and on surplus land – these will provide a standard format for assessing local government estates, providing a basis for benchmarking for those wishing to do so. They will also introduce a more objective measure of surplus land and require bodies to publish details of land held surplus for two years (six months for residential property) and the reasons why.

In policy development

- A priority purchaser status for councils – giving those who can make the case greater access to surplus government land at market value to unlock local growth.

SECTION A

The application process for new areas/partnerships

Those applying to join the national OPE programme are particularly encouraged to partner with neighbouring local authorities to form a larger partnership. This may be an existing or emerging combined authority area or other sub-regional cluster. The partnership structures are for you to decide. Applications from individual councils with credible programmes that will bring about significant transformation locally are also welcome.

Successful applicants will have ambitious programmes and credible delivery plans. They will clearly show how proposals will deliver core OPE objectives (see p2).

Pre-selection criteria

Applicants must:

- name all local authority partners and identify a lead local authority
- name other partners from central government, the wider public sector and beyond
- by 6 May 2016 submit an expression of interest (see below)
- commit to produce a final services and assets delivery plan by 29 July 2016, setting out your programme and benefits in each of the next five years from being part of OPE
- commit to completing the following by end December 2016:
 - record all land and property assets owned by partnership authorities (except social housing stock) and public sector partners on the ePIMS Lite system
 - have in place an effective board, bringing together partnership members and wider public sector partners who will help to drive your plans. Local authority only boards are unlikely to suffice. Local enterprise partnerships (LEPs) will be crucial players in this engagement – they will be key co-investors in your plans
 - provide information on the estimated value of all local authority owned land and buildings within your partnership area
 - make details of all land and property owned by the partnership publicly accessible including in authorities' statutory annual reports.

Process and timetable

New applicants will complete a two stage application process as follows:

By 6 May 2016 you must submit an expression of interest setting out succinctly (maximum eight sides A4, minimum font size 11) why you should receive the funding and support offered by the programme. It should:

- Confirm your commitment to meeting the pre-selection criteria set out above.
- Set out the key projects you plan to focus on. Together, they should have the potential to radically transform your place and/or how your partnership goes about its business.
- Outline the likely benefits your partnership expects to deliver in each of the next five years through OPE: jobs created, new homes, capital receipts raised, running cost savings, and investment income. It should also set out how services will be transformed.
- Identify the assets you expect to see in play. These will need to be assets owned by more than one partner. Applicants are encouraged to put forward plans which bring in assets owned by other public sector bodies locally and support the delivery of central government's transformation programmes.
- Explain why you need support from the programme to progress your plans and how you plan to use funding.
- Set out the costs of this first stage of work.

By 10 June 2016 we expect to inform partnerships of the outcome of stage 1 of the application process. Successful applicants will receive up to £50,000 and support from regional advisors to develop and finalise your services and assets delivery plan – see right.

By 29 July 2016 you must submit a final services and assets delivery plan which includes:

- a plan for how your partnership will meet all pre-selection criteria by December 2016
- a detailed project plan for each project set out within your application
- the 'early wins' your partnership aims to achieve (ie in years one and two)
- a detailed evaluation of your proposal including an evidence base for these outputs
- a revised cost plan showing how all funding will be spent with a timeline.

Successful applicants will have an ambitious, credible, evidence-based Services and Assets Delivery Plan. If successful your partnership/council will receive an allocation of funding. We reserve the right to partially fund bids.

Once on the programme, your partnership will be eligible to bid for further funding to deliver additional projects and benefits throughout the programme. We also plan to invite new areas to apply in September 2016 and March 2017 – see right for outline table.

SECTION B

The application process for existing OPE members

Existing OPE members are also invited to bid for further funding and support to deliver additional projects and benefits. Where this is a modest bid with an existing partnership, applicants will follow a streamlined process – see right. Where there is a substantial bid and/or expansion in the partnership applicants will follow the process set out in Section A. OPE regional teams can advise on the appropriate application route and will work with partnerships to develop bids.
